

To my living parents

I am sorry for all the pain and misery I have brought you both, it just now but from these past few years as well. I don't want to go through life knowing because of my mistakes that I wanted to nothing and was there are a disappointment. Don't take that as me putting the blame on you because that is the furthest thing from the truth. Both of you have been so amazing with your constant help and support through my life. I love you both so much and I wish it didn't have to come to this but because of my choices in life this is how it has to be. Dad you have been an excellent father and have meant so much to me, its my turn to return the favor, I can't have any of this come back to hurt you and risk everything you have achieved in your life. Mom I am sorry for everything I've ever said to you and done to you. All you were trying to do was be the good mother that you are. I don't want to cause you anymore pain after this. I hope you be worried about me anymore. I am truly sorry for this and everything else. I love you both so much, I love you with all my heart. Please don't be sad, this is what I want now, I get to die peacefully with the woman I love, the woman of my dreams, my fiance (yes we were engaged!). I miss you both so much already, I love you mom, I love you dad.

My plan is pretty simple, Police don't consider you a missing person in anyway till after you've been gone 48 hours which would give us plenty of time to get to clearwater. Then we steal a boat and sail down to Panama which is a 4-6 day sail. We could live on the beach just me and you forever in our small little cozy house. The more I think about it now the more I see how unfair it is to you. I love you so much and you know I will do anything for you. If it comes down to it and I have to live all time I will go and suffer through it as long as you visit and be there to get me when I get out. I just want to be with you.

I LOVE YOU ALEX GOOD

I no longer want to make the call on this, you tell me what you want. I know I will have my moments of weakness but you will get me through them, I know you will, you can do things to me that no one else can. My dad said that he knows this is hard and that I might think his. My response word for word "I know Alex is the one, I will never want anyone else. Alex is all I think about, all I see, all I am in my mind, especially not someone who is on their 3rd wife. Not all men are the same and there is a big difference between me and you and this is for me." That's when he started crying, but I guess the you and nothing's changing that, umm... nothing though is that I love

Hey Alex I hope everything is well with you and things over there are not as bad as I think they are. I am sorry for all the things that I've caused and the relationships that I probably ruined between you and your family. I've gotten myself a job, it is full time and I get paid hourly plus commission so I will be making more than my mom lol! I start on the 31st so I'm getting really excited because its almost here. I plan to move out as soon as I can even if it means sleeping in the car for a few days. I hope I didn't get you into too much trouble and you don't have to face time, which you shouldn't since you're a minor. Before I go I have to tell you something you will not want to hear but I think it is the best thing to do, not only for us but for our parents too. I know neither of our parents want us together and we should make them happy and fulfill their wish. Not being able to see you or hear you or kiss you is just too much, why drag it on? It would be healthier for us to talk to new people and try to be happy again then to sit around in misery. I'm sorry it had to come to this and I wish things could be different but we can't change what happened and we can't change the way things are now. I'm sorry I really am, Goodbye Alex.
